四、閱讀測驗【請在下列各題中選出最適當的答案】

Once upon a time, there was a land where robotic bears helped lift the elderly out of bed and into wheelchairs. In this land, machine seals comforted lonely people and formed an essential part of elderly care. Is this science fiction? Not in Japan. These robots already exist, and you may actually experience them as you get older. These examples of state-of-the-art technology are helping to solve a big problem for the Japanese – that of taking care of their senior citizens.

It is estimated that 40% of the population in Japan will be over 65 by 2055. At the same time, there will be an approximately 16% decrease in the size of the workforce by 2030. This shortage of labor presents a grave challenge: Who will look after all the people in their golden years? There are simply not enough younger people to care for the older population. And with the breakdown of traditional family responsibilities, a growing number of elderly are living away from their families and the family care they have been given in the past.

Robots to the rescue! Mechanized beds that are controlled by voice can change from a bed to a wheelchair on command. Robotic bear nurses can lift patients who weigh up to 135 pounds (61 kilos). And for comfort and companionship, soft robotic pet seals have been designed to show emotions with facial expressions, movement, noises, and responses to touch. These are just a few of the inventions that are so promising toward a future of elderly care assisted by robots.
